

Council members will be tested, undergo an ordeal ritual and be initiated in other rituals. They are chosen by the Elders and voted on by the Council. They must uphold the ideals and values of the tribe, and be experienced in more than one tradition.

Elders are selected by the elders and assented to by the Council. They need to have been trained or participated in each of the traditions, crafts, secular functions and some priestcraft. They will be tested and undergo an ordeal ritual and initiated in other rituals.

Advisors are part of the leadership of each tradition, craft or service. They are first approved by their tradition, and approved by the Council.
